

ABSTRACT

A navigation device of the present invention searches a route to a destination referring to map data containing time restriction information
5 with respect to roads.